

General Data Protection Regulation for the RIMpro mobile application

RIMpro B.V. does not collect any personal information via the mobile application, You can always contact us about this declaration by e-mail: support@rimpro.eu

Personal data processed by RIMpro B.V.

The RIMpro mobile application does not collect any personal data, it is only presented as a consultation application for an already existing account and does not allow the modification of the information present on our servers.

This regulation would however be subject to modification if a collection of information were to be considered.